Terms and Conditions:

Music

We encourage you to choose your own music. Tears of Joy Video creates this video with the knowledge of you using this for private use, and not for commercial use. We create the videos for your personal use only. If placed on public view such as a social media site or used for commercial use, we recommend not using popular music. If you do, you accept the responsibility for copyright infringement.

Quality

When choosing images keep in mind there may be some loss of quality through the production and viewing process. Because you will be seeing these images larger than you ever have before flaws in the original photograph will appear larger as well. Flaws may be seen such as scratches, marks, tears, wrinkles, and blurriness. However, some pictures may also look better than ever before because they are larger and brighter. Set your expectations appropriately. Tears of Joy Video will do the best to return your pictures to you in the same condition we received them. If conditions beyond our control any pictures are damaged or destroyed, we will be responsible for replacement copies of photos.

Limitations

Due to the incompatibility of some DVD players to play all DVD's we do not refund for any DVD's that skip, freeze or have any difficulty playing on any DVD player unless the DVD is physically flawed. Damaged DVD's can be returned to us for replacement. Be assured that we do verify that all DVD's we produce are 100% perfect without any flaws before shipping.

Conditions

Tears of Joy Video liability is limited to any monies paid should mechanical/electronic failure, theft, accident, weather, loss or damage of your images or materials, or other mishap occur which prevents fulfillment of our agreement or the return of any materials provided. YOU agree to pay 50% of package when your order is placed and the balance is due when final approval of project is given. Though Tears of Joy Video will try and notify you as to the extra number of pictures, songs, titles and music you have added past the package requirements, YOU are responsible for keeping track of added pictures, video clips and music past the package requirements and when final approval is given, you agree to pay the total remainder of the what is due. Your video can be previewed before it goes to DVD, viewing the progress of the video. Tears of Joy will add or take out photos or make-needed changes up to 3 times in the creation of the video. More than that may incur extra charges of up to $35 per hour. After final approval by you, no further changes can be made and your verbal or emailed approval means final print is accepted with no further changes. We understand and accept, as stated, the conditions and limitations described herein.
